

Course Title

Evidence You Can Use for Clinical Practice, September 2022

Course Introduction

This course is a learner-selected compilation of recent research reviews in speech-language pathology. Clinical implications of the studies are emphasized. Post-course, learners will be able to describe the findings of research studies within their interest area and state how they plan to apply those findings to practice.

Learning Outcomes & Details

As a result of this course, participants will be able to:

- Describe the findings of recent research studies relevant to clinical speech-language pathology practice
- State how recent research findings can be applied to clinical practice

Course Type: Text; Web

Time: Varies

ASHA CEUs: This course is offered for up to 11.65 ASHA CEUs.

Course Completion Requirements: Read at least 30 minutes worth of eligible reviews within one calendar month (month ends on the last day of the month at 12:00 pm CST). You'll answer one question at the end of each review (two attempts allowed per question). Credit will be awarded in 30-minute increments, rounded down.

Courses edited by:

Meredith Harold, PhD, CCC-SLP is owner of The Informed SLP. Financial Disclosure—receives salary from The Informed SLP. Nonfinancial Disclosure— President-Elect of the Kansas Speech-Language-Hearing Association; Board member of the American Speech–Language–Hearing Association Committee on Clinical Research, Implementation Science, and Evidence-Based Practice.

Karen Evans, MA, CCC-SLP is an employee of The Informed SLP. Financial Disclosure— receives salary from The Informed SLP. Nonfinancial Disclosure— None.

Natalie Douglas, PhD, CCC-SLP is an Associate Professor at Central Michigan University and editor at The Informed SLP. Financial Disclosure— receives salary from Central Michigan University and The Informed SLP. Nonfinancial Disclosure—None.

Katherine Sanchez, PhD, CPSP is a speech pathologist in private practice, and editor at The Informed SLP. Financial Disclosure— co-owner of Protea Therapy, receives salary from The Informed SLP, the University of Melbourne, and La Trobe University. Nonfinancial Disclosure— None.

Full research and writing team bios can be found here. The Informed SLP's researchers and writers are prohibited from having any financial or nonfinancial conflicts of interest related to the content they research and report on.

ASHA CE
APPROVED PROVIDER

The Informed SLP

Intermediate Level

Up to 11.65 ASHA CEUs

Purchase CE Credit and get answers to commonly-asked questions at www.theinformedslp.com/cecredit, or email communications@theinformedslp.com